"WESTFIELD STATE OF MIND"

As part of Westfield's Third Annual AddamsFest and in commemoration of our town's 300th anniversary, the Westfield Public Arts Commission is calling for local artists to participate in a "Westfield State of Mind" pumpkin painting contest. The theme is a nod to Westfield's native son Charles Addams, whose cartoons were often featured in the New Yorker. We're looking for serious artists and your prideful take on a "Westfield State of Mind." Help us see what you see in Westfield and our community. For example, it could be representative of our town's colonial origins or a reflection on what's happening today with Covid-19. Your choice. Your creativity. Whatever it is, we want your artistic chops to shine through you to your painted pumpkin! Our plan is to choose 30 pumpkins by 30 artists. Selected pumpkins will be placed for viewing in Mindowaskin Park, October 23rd-31st.
